GRAPE SEED - I know that many of you desire to have a good source of Grape Seed -pro-antho-cyanidins for their antioxidant and *free radical scavenging properties. We have that. It is made from the seeds of grown grapes. This is important. Grapes are sometimes heavily sprayed with some rather nasty poisons. Some of these poisons wind up inside the grapes and inside the seeds themselves. That presents us with a dilemma. Are we adding to the problem of what makes cells go wild and produce bad cells, or are we, hopefully, doing more good than harm with the protective part of the grape seed? Rather than get into that puzzle, wouldn't it be better to just use raised grapes as a source of our product? We thought so, and that is why we did not have a liquid Grape Seed extract product, like everyone else, right away. Proanthocyanidins, antioxidants and free radicals scavengers are terms used as, roughly, the same things these day. In common terms, they mean compounds from nature which seek out and destroy poisons which make us age too rapidly or die too soon, or both.

DOSE:40 drops per meal.*This product has not been evaluated by the Food and Drug Administration.
