Purple Loosestrife Extract 4 fl. oz.

Manufacturer: Pure Herbs, LTD.

Below is about historical observations and historical data relating to herbs. This document is not intended to be a substitute for medical advice by license physicians. All readers should consult a physician regularly in all matters related to medical problems. This includes the diagnoses and treatment of disease and all other physical and mental conditions.

Loosestrife is a member of the mint family, long esteemed in strengthening the muscular fibers and correction of eyesight. For conditions of clouded vision or restoration of eyesight, prepare an eye wash of 20 drops to 1/2 cup of distilled water and bathe the eyes with an eyecup 2-3 times per day for 5 minutes at a time.* Although Loosestrife exerts astringent properties on the mucous membranes, its action is not drying which makes it a valuable tonic for a weakened, over-extended colon and intestine. Purple Loosestrife is especially attracted to the troubled gall bladder, liver and kidneys to function as a tonic and a nutrient to restore them to a strong and healthy condition.* NOTE: Chemical companies want you to buy poison and kill Purple Loosestrife as a terrible weed endangering crops. It was pointed out that it only grows near water and can't endanger field crops. Then they said it crowds out aquatic plants, which also support water fowl. The fact is it grows there until the damage done by man can be corrected and then the other naturally occurring plants can return.* DOSAGE: 20 to 40 drops per 1/2 cup water as a douche for vaginal infection. 40 drops three times per day for all other uses.
